

In a free enterprise, it makes no sense that a satellite radio service should be prohibited from providing local information as demanded by its customers. If regular radio stations would stop playing such derivative garbage music and headache-inducing chatter and commercials, maybe they'd win back some of their market! In the meantime, I love satellite radio and welcome the addition of local traffic and weather! Add it to my bill - that's how free enterprise works!